After Edmonton was officially scratched from the Indy Racing League schedule, officials confirmed yesterday Calgary is on its list of potential replacement cities.

Terry Angstadt, president of the IRL's commercial division, said Calgary has been in mind for some time now.

"Probably three or four or maybe even five years ago, a couple members of our team took a look at Calgary specifically, with a specific promoter at the time, and clearly a great, great market," said Angstadt.

He said the goal would be to keep rac-ing in Canada, adding Calgary, Vancouver or somewhere in Quebec, all of which are in the running.

Normand Prieur, spokesperson for race promoters Octane management, said a decision will have to be made quickly if they want to have a race in 2011.

Indy could be boon or bust for Calgary

Currently, city does not have a venue for the car racing event

The possibility of an Indy Racing League event coming to Calgary could be an economic boon to the city, but it could have drawbacks, according to a city tourism professional.

Marco Delaco, the vicepresident of sales and sport events at Tourism Calgary, said the race would likely draw a lot of business to Calgary.

"An anchored event like the Indy can make a longterm and incremental impact on tourism but it can also cost a tremendous amount of money and the fact is that we need a suitable race track in Calgary, said De Iaco. "It's pretty obvious, Calgary doesn't have an international race track at the moment "

While there may not be a venue in mind as of yet, Rick Francescone said this is an opportunity motor sport enthusiasts have been waiting for.

Montana execution date set for Canadian

A Montana judge has scheduled a Jan. 31 execution date for the only known Canadian on death row in the United States, despite the fact that a conflicting court order was issued earlier in the week putting the case on hold.

The Missoulian newspaper reports that district Judge John Larson in Deer Lodge decided yesterday on the date for the lethal injection of double-murderer Ronald Smith, who is originally from Red Deer

A Helena judge had issued an order on Monday staying the execution. Smith is out of appeals but is seeking a court ruling on whether the state's method of carrying out the death penalty is unconstitutional.

It appears it will be up to the state Supreme Court to decide which order stands.

Smith was convicted of fatally fatally shooting two cousins, Harvey Madman Jr. and Thomas Running Rabbit, while high on drugs and alcohol near East Glacier, Mont., in 1982.

Canadian courts forced the Conservative government to seek clemency for Smith last year after Ottawa initially balked at stepping

Paramedics, minister square off over ERs

Paramedics group questions if ERs could handle a catastrophe Zwozdesky points to recent bed openings

Paramedics in Alberta say patients are waiting so long for urgent care in overcrowded hospitals that they are now calling the 911 emergency line while sitting in the emergency ward. But Health Minister

Gene Zwozdesky says help is on the way, with more beds being opened daily and wait times continuing to come down.

Both announcements came yesterday as hospital wait times and the government's handling of the health file continued to dominate the fall sitting of the legislature.

"Our hospital ERs are already bursting at the seams," said Elisabeth Ballermann, head of the Health Sciences Association of Alberta, which represents paramedics.

"If something

strophic were to happen, I can't say I'm confident that Alberta Health Services has a plan in place to handle the excess patient

Zwozdesky said he has since taken action to free up and add more acute care beds to ease the bottleneck on emergency wards.

"Just in the last few weeks and going forward for the next few weeks, more than 71 new beds will be opened in acute care hospitals in Edmonton and more than 70 beds will be opened or have already been opened within the same time frame in Calgary," Zwozdesky said. THE CANADIAN PRESS

The hard facts on bone loss

Researchers at the University of Calgary using 3-D imaging to scan bones Differences identified in bone strength and bone loss between men and women high-resolution, three-dimensional scantechnology, searchers Dr. Steven Boyd and Dr. David Hanley have discovered new information about bones.

"Digitally, we've cut bones in half to take a look inside," said Boyd.

"It's really the first time that we can see the interior structures of bones, and really analyze their micro-architecture."

According to Boyd, everyone loses bone density. But the ways in which they lose bone density difespecially between men and women.

"By looking at how micro-architecture bone varies between men and women and how it changes with age, it provides a basis for further understanding," Boyd said.

"What we've found is women tend to lose bone by losing these interconnections in their micro-architecture, where have a general thinning of microarchitecture."

He says interconnections within the bone are important in maintaining bone strength, and this new technology may help with treatments for osteoporosis in the future.

MEN AGAINST DIVE DATING IS HERE FOR YOU

When you get divorced, you go to some dark, disturbing places. I went to a cougar bar.

t's been two years since my marriage ended and my decision-making skills in the immediate aftermath were sometimes lacking. I showed the high dating standards of Bret Michaels, the long-term planning skills of a goldfish, and the general intelligence of a farm-fresh potato.

Fortunately, my sojourns into seedy bars were not successful. There's nothing like waking up in the morning and doing a little celebratory dance when you realize you're alone.

And now that I am sane again I have a higher purpose: To warn recent divorcees that the answers to their problems are NOT in bars. I plan to call it Men Against Dive Dating, unless there's some sort of unforeseen legal problem.

I'll give speeches at places where male divorcees gather — laundromats mostly — and tell people my troubling but inspirational story.

So here goes: I went to a cougar bar called Crocodile Rock.

All you really need to know about the place is that when I mentioned the bar during a standup routine it evoked instant laughter. The exception was the night I was performing for a bunch of ball-cap wearing drunks. That night it evoked hoots of approval.

Crocodile Rock is known as the Cougar Capital of Canada. So

Worth mentioning

Health Canada is warning consumers about the potential risks of buying prescription drugs online from certain websites, which are offering medications not authorized for sale in Canada and thought to be counterfeit.

Those websites are: www.northdrugmart.com, www.northdrugstore.com and www.pharmacy-rxworld.com. Health Canada has identified products on these websites that contain references to brand names and resemble drugs that are authorized to be sold in Canada

"This may lead consumers to believe they are purchasing drugs that have been reviewed for safety, efficacy and quality by Health Canada," the department said yesterday.

"It is important to note that counterfeit drugs may contain no active or unsuitable ingredients, or dangerous additives. To this end, counterfeit drugs may pose a higher risk than other forms of unauthorized drugs."

Prescription products that have been approved for sale in other countries, or generic products purporting to be the equivalent of authorized products, must still be reviewed by Health Canada and receive their own market authorization or product licence before they may be sold in Canada. Canadian celebs join It Gets Better campaign

A group of Canadian celebrities, businesspeople, politicians and athletes including Rick Mercer and Mark Tewksbury have joined the "It Gets Better" viral campaign, aimed at young victims of anti-gay bullying.

Columnist Dan Savage launched the movement in September following the high-profile suicides of several gay teens who were the victims of bullying.

A new 12-minute video featuring Canadian personalities hit the web on Tuesday

Others involved in the project include ballet dancer Rex Harrington, politician George Smitherman and the cast of MTV's 1 Girl, 5 Gays.

Some recall their own harrowing experiences with high-school bullying, while others discuss when they came out. The campaign, in which celebrities talk about how much life has improved in the years since high school, is designed to give hope to youngsters.

The video ends with the contact information for the LGBT Youth Line and the Kids Help Phone.

Prior contributors to the international campaign include Ellen DeGeneres, Anne Hathaway, Neil Patrick Harris, Katy Perry, Rob Thomas and U.S. President Barack Obama.

"That's why we had the cast we do — to be partners and collaborators," said the director recently in Los Angeles. "I would say 30 per cent of what you hear in the scene is impro-... we'd get three

Plenty of options for the holidays

● Hollywood revs up for the holiday film season ● Animated fun, explosive action and award-worthy drama

As we come upon the start of Hollywood's holiday movie season, it's important to observe that for every multi-million dollar blockbuster, there's an award-worthy drama.

And 2010 offers no less in either category.

With everything from Darren Aronofsky's festival favourite Black Swan (Dec. 1) to the big-screen adaptation of Yogi Bear (Dec. 17), this year clearly proves to have something for every-one at the local cineplex:

The Whole Family

Kids of all ages will be pumped to see Harry Potter and the Deathly Hollows when it hits multiplexes Nov. 19, but be warned it's only the first half. You will have to wait until next summer for part two of the

Also for fans of fantasy, there's The Chronicles of Narnia: The Voyage of the Dawn Trader (Dec. 10) and the highly-anticipated reimagining of Tron: Legacy (Dec. 17).

For a slightly less intense experience, Disney's Tan-gled (Nov. 24) is a modern take on the classic fairytale, Rapunzel.

The Blockbusters
This year, there'll be plenty of big-money showstoppers - from Denzel Washington's runaway thriller Unstoppable (Nov. 12) to Cher's cinematic return in the eclectic musical Burlesque (Nov. 24).

Other highlights include Johnny Depp and Angelina Jolie facing off in The Tourist (Dec. 10), Russell Crowe in a French remake called The Next Three Days

(Nov. 19), Mark Wahlberg in the inspirational drama The Fighter (Dec. 17) and Little Fockers (Dec. 22), the latest sequel to the Ben Stiller's hit comedy Meet the Parents.

... The Award Goes To

If you want to get an eye on an early Oscar contender, be sure to check out the Toronto Film Festival's audience favourite when The King's Speech (starring Colin Firth) hits theatres Dec. 10.

Other award-worthy films could include Country Strong (Dec. 22) featuring Gwyneth Paltrow as a washed-up crooner, the adaptation of Mordecai Richler's acclaimed novel Barney's Version (Dec. 24) and the return of the perpetual Oscar-winning Coen Brothers with a dark remake of the classic western, True Grit (Dec. 25).

Heidi, Spencer spent $10M, now bankrupt

▶ Reality stars said they expected The Hills would have lasted a few more years ▶ Spent nearly $3M trying to launch Montag's career as a singer considering bankruptcy, they tell Life & Style.

"We were immature, worrying too much about the famous part instead of the actual business part," Pratt says. "We thought the Hills was going to be like 90210 and we'd have another five to 10 years."

The couple claims they spent $35,000 a month on their rented Malibu home, $3 million on studio and producer fees in an attempt to launch Montag's music career and hundreds of thousands of dollars on her plastic surgery. They say they now owe the IRS $2 million.

"We spoke with a bankruptcy attorney and I've looked into unemployment checks," Pratt says.

Michaels allegedly other man in Cyrus breakup

Miley Cyrus' parents filed for divorce last week, and sources say it's because mom Tish Cyrus allegedly had an affair with Bret Michaels, according to Us Weekly.

Michaels met the family when he recorded a duet with Miley in February.

A rep for Michaels denies the allegations, saying, "There has never been an affair or a fling."

Lanvin made for the public

• With shoppers and the fashion media waiting with bated breath, the countdown to the day Alber Elbaz's collection for H&M hits stores begins Here's a sneak preview of what to expect

As the release date for the Lanvin for H&M collection draws nearer, the Swedish chain reveals more details about what is shaping up to be fashion's most anticipated high/low collaboration yet.

Based on the looks revealed so far, shoppers can expect a greatest hits type collection of the house's thoroughly trademark, modern statement dress-es, bold cocktail jewelry, and embellished handbags at affordable prices.

Lanvin creative director Alber Elbaz believes that these types of partnerships are the future of fashion.

"I love the idea of H&M going luxury rather than Lanvin going public," he says in a press statement provided by H&M.

"It's about extremes: very high and very low. It's not about bridges; they are the first to collapse, he adds.

It's hard to believe this is all coming from the same man who just last year told The New Yorker magazine that he wouldn't design a lower-priced line to complement Lanvin.

"I have a problem to do a collection that is a secondary line. I mean, you don't want to be the stepsister. You want to be Cinderella. Show me one girl who wants to be the stepsister," he said.

So does the H&M line reveal an overall change of

THE KIT

From Christina Hendricks' come-hither crimson to Emily Blunt's resplendent rouge, red lips are among this season's hottest trends. Here, we show you how to avoid the cardinal sins and go scarlet in style:

Choose the right shade

According to makeup artist Charlotte Willer of Maybelline New York, the best way to meet your lipstick match is to test shades on your fingertips. "They're the closest to the colour of your lips," she said.

Prime your canvas

A flaky finish will spoil the look, so exfoliate first by gently buffing lips with a washcloth, then moisturize with eye cream. By the time you finish the rest of your face, the cream will be absorbed and your lips will be ready for colour.

Make one makeup statement at a time

While red lips may be in this season, the "clown" look is not, so if you're going red, keep the rest of your makeup minimal by sticking to neutral eyeshadow and blush shades.

DECOR MOMENT

KARL LOHNES HOME@METRONEWS.CA

Is it too early to start planning, organizing and decorating for Christmas?

Not in my books! I've already started researching all the holiday decor trends (which you will hear about over the next weeks), penciling in holiday party dates and thinking about all the locations where I can place the tree in the house this year.

Tomorrow, I land at the Jasper Park Lodge to attend a two-week event called Christmas In November, which will get me completely pumped about entertaining and decorating for the holidays.

When I finally land

When I finally land home from being in "the land of a million Christmas trees," I'll be pumped to get the house decorated and the parties will then start.

Here's an early buzz list to get you thinking about the holidays: It's my list of common Holiday Decorating Mistakes; what not to do if you want to impress:

Don't scatter holiday cards and collections: placing your itsy-bitsy collectibles all over the house just looks messy.

DO: The collectible holiday bells, angels and snowmen will look much more impressive if you group them together in a tight collection. Use your mantel, sideboard or floating shelf and tightly group your collections.

Don't buy a too-short tree: choose a tree that is no more than one foot shorter than the ceilings. Anything shorter will look For free, daily decorating lessons, follow Karl on Twitter at: twitter/karllohnesCTV wimpy.

Do: If you want give a short tree some height, place the tree on a sidetable covered with a festive tablecloth or Christmas wrap. If you live in a small space, consider putting a full-sized tree outside on the balcony and decorate with outdoor ornaments and lights.

Don't use wimpy garlands and wreaths: Most store-bought garlands are thinlooking and need some beefing up.

DO: Add a second garland rope to it or add artificial greens to the garland or a skimpy looking wreath. Fuller, lush and fresh looking is better! If you live in a condo, consider hanging your wreath on the inside of your condo door so you can see it more often.

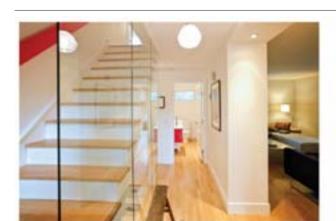

Don't display bowls of candies, chocolates and nuts as decoration: Honestly, I don't like dusting off my chocolates before eating and guessing whether your dog licked over the candy bowl (and you know it did!)

DO: If you want to create a holiday display on your coffee table, use fresh items like lemons, pomegranates, and tangerines. They'll not only add colour but aroma to the room.

Don't use too few tree lights: A sparsely lit tree looks cheap and very Charlie Brown.

DO: Here's the shining rule about tree lights: add 100 lights for each foot of the tree's height then add 10 per cent more. There's nothing more romantic than a dim room illuminated only by the glow of festive lights.

Designer Jackie Morra guides inspired decorators through her process

Clients often tell me that they have a very hard time getting started on a new renovation or decorating project. But it's not as difficult as it seems if you follow the process I used for my own bedroom renova-

How to find inspiration? The best way to find inspiration is by gathering photos of spaces you love from magazines, websites or visiting showrooms to see varying materials for texture, colour and styles.

How to start a decor project? Create a simple plan of your expectations than start to review materials, timelines and a budget. Be organized and focus on one area at a time until it is completed. The layout of a space involves the correct placement of furniture and accessories and should take into account scale, flow and focal points. A room should have one or two focal points such as windows, accent walls or artwork.

How to decide on a colour scheme? Paint creates big impact: the right colours will pull everything together and complement any style. Start looking for colour cues by reviewing decor items you love and get direction from an area rug or fabric, noting the three main colours used.

How do I decide on flooring?

The floor area sets the tone and feel, and is the second largest space next to the walls. Research the right product for your lifestyle. The key to longevity is to take into consideration quality, the look you want and installation. The flooring used in my bedroom renovation, for instance, is Torlys Cork Plank, Vintage Block Chai. It was actually the inspiration for this space because I fell in love with the comfort, warmth and the many environmental benefits of the floor. Visit torlys.com for more information.

How do I get help? Get three quotes from contractors and suppliers confirmed in writing with specific timelines and costs by project so there are no surprises and it also allows you to get unique ideas. Trust your instincts and make sure you are working with someone that shares your vision

When we decorate our homes, we express ourselves through the furniture we buy and the colours we select. But perhaps no element of decorating says more about us than the personal photographs we display.

This holiday families across the country will pose for photos and snap candid images of giftgiving. Some will even sit for studio portraits. Between holiday photos, school photos, team photos and the many shots we capture each day with cellphone cameras, we have a wealth of imagery to choose from. But which belong on display? And how can we display it?

Tell your story

Candid shots, rather than posed portraits, will help visitors to your home understand who you are, says Genevieve Gorder, host and chief designer for the HGTV show, Genevieve's Holiday Home.

Brian Patrick Flynn, editor of decordemon.com, agrees. "When I fall in love with a photograph, it's 100 per cent of the time because there's a personal link to it."

His favourite is "a family photo that looks like a moment in time was captured."

Think like a photo editor, Flynn says, paring down your library of images to tell your story. Photos don't have to be flawless, but they have to say something about you.

If you're having professional photos taken, consider hiring a photographer who will capture family members doing activities they love, rather than posing at a studio.

And Flynn is not a fan of everyone dressing alike. "In real life, you don't all wear the same button-down shirt and jeans. So don't do it in a photo.'

"The main thing about personal photos is to remember that they're personal," says Los Angeles-based interior designer Betsy Burnham. "They're not art. They don't take the place of art."

Consider which photos are best in more private spaces of the house, such as bedrooms or an upstairs hallway, and which belong in rooms where you greet guests, she says

"Team photos are fun in a kid's room, on a bookshelf, to watch how they grew over time," Burnham says. "But those are never the best photos of any of us, nor the most interesting. Let friends look at something that's going to pique their curiosity or make them comment.

Technology is your friend

"Oftentimes we're not the best of photographers, Gorder says. "But with all the tools we have, it's really easy to make (poor photos) into something great. Scan them, tweak them, crop them in a way that's nonsymmetrical."

You can also crop to emphasize key elements. In many personal photos, "only 30 per cent shows people; the rest is background and sky," says Flynn, so faces can't be seen unless you're up close.

Technology also allows you to create new items out of your favourite photos, including customized coffee-table books from sites like Shutterfly.com. Flynn sometimes makes photo murals for clients a single image blown up to nearly wall-size and printed on the sort of vinyl used to make billboards.

Look through your collection of photos "and find that one image — it could even be a still life of your grandmother's purse sitting on a counter in a childhood home. That tells a story," Flynn says.

"Once you find the photo, contact your local digi-tal printer and get an estimate on how much it would cost to have a gigantic vinyl print done, and get estimates of what it would cost to install," he says. "It can completely kick-start the design of a house and its mood.'

Wings edge out Flames

Modano, Abdelkader score for Detroit to hand Calgary 3rd straight loss

Mike Modano and Justin Abdelkader scored secondperiod goals to lead the Detroit Red Wings to a 2-1 win over the Calgary Flames last night.

The Flames (6-6-0) led 1-0 after the first period on a power-play goal by Mark Giordano before the Red Wings (7-2-1) rallied for their second straight win, and fifth in their past six games.

The Flames have now lost three straight and finished their five-game homestand — their longest of the season — with a 2-3 record.

RED WINGS

After missing the past two games with back spasms, Detroit goalie Jimmy Howard returned to the lineup and stopped 16 of 17 shots he faced to improve his record to 5-0-1.

Calgary goalie Miikka Kiprusoff made 31 saves in a losing cause.

The teams traded chances in the first period. With the Flames on a power play early in the game, Detroit's Dan Cleary stole the puck from Brendan Morrison, who was playing the point. Cleary sped ahead for a breakaway and fired a shot that Kiprusoff turned aside with his blocker.

On another first-period power play for the Flames, Jarome Iginla sent a crosscrease pass to Niklas Hagman, who fired a pair of shots that were turned aside by Howard.

On Calgary's third power play of the game, Giordano one-timed a pass from Iginla into the top corner over Howard's glove hand to give the Flames a 1-0 lead.

Early in the second, Modano broke into the Calgary zone and wired a shot into the top corner over Kiprusoff's outstretched glove hand to tie the game.

Later in the frame, Abdelkader scored what would be the game-winner. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Burris capping possible MVP season

Is this the year Henry Burris claims the CFL's top trophy for an individual player?

It's been a decade since a Calgary Stampeder won the league's outstanding player award. Former QB Dave Dickenson — who now serves as Calgary's quarterbacks coach — won in 2000

The Stampeders put Burris's name forth yesterday as their candidate for this year's honour. With his strong numbers this season, Burris is a virtual shoo-in to be the Western finalist for most outstanding player.

The virtual certainty ends there, however, as Montreal Alouettes counterpart Anthony Calvillo is the favourite to represent the East again after winning the trophy the last two years.

The CFL's outstanding player is voted on by the eight CFL head coaches and the Football Reporters of Canada (FRC).

Burris has put up the numbers to warrant consideration at the awards ceremony Nov. 25 in Edmonton.

With 4,890 passing yards and a league-leading 37 touchdown passes, Burris has the Stamps on the verge of scoring over 600 points in one season for the first time in 10 years. He also has three rushing touchdowns and almost 500 rushing yards.

If Calgary wins tomorrow in Winnipeg, the Stampeders will match their 13-5 record of two years ago when they won the Grey Cup in Montreal. Calgary will host the West final Nov. 21 and attempt a return to the CFL's championship game Nov. 28 in Edmonton.

Since Burris signed with the Stampeders as a free agent in 2005, he has won at least 10 games in all but one season (2007). While Calvillo is considered the model of quarterback consistency, Burris has also kept Calgary a perennial contender since his arrival.

"We wouldn't be in this position we're in without his performance," Stampeder running back Jon Cornish said.

"It's going to be very interesting this year to see how it works out because I really think Henry has a great chance." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Phaneuf out until December

Toronto Maple Leafs captain Dion Phaneuf is out four to six weeks after surgery to repair a "significant" cut on his left leg.

The 25-year-old defenceman was injured in the second period of Tuesday's 3-2 loss to Ottawa when he got tangled up awkwardly with Senators forward Peter Regin. Phaneuf needed assistance to get to the team's dressing room and had surgery later that night, the team said in a release yesterday.

The injury came shortly after Leafs GM Brian Burke met with reporters during the first intermission to express his disappointment at fans who booed

Phaneuf has four assists and a minus-6 rating in 11 games this season.

The Maple Leafs recalled defenceman Korbinian Holzer from the Toronto Marlies of the American Hockey League.
